Heng Long's remote-controlled tanks are suitable for off-road use [use outside at own risk!] thanks to the tank tracks and can master inclines of up to 35 degrees. However, the manufacturer warns of moisture and sand or dirt that can get stuck in the electronics or gearbox and damage them. Outdoor uses are therefore to be treated with caution.

After I posted details of my new Heng Long Leopard tank on this forum I was asked to do a review of the manual, so here it is. First up I will point out when I got my first Heng Long tank 2 ½ years ago was the only time I looked at the Heng Long manual. Most people will know that the translation was poor and often didn't make sense. Plus all Heng Long tanks work same way so once you figured ...
