There is a War on Children. 1 in 6 children in today’s world lives in a conflict zone and children are more at risk of harm today than at any time in the last 20 years. These children are in desperate need of care and protection, and have to live with the trauma of having seen things no child ever should. Together we can stop this.

Stop the War on Children | Save the Children

Today, children are at more risk in war and conflict zones now than at any time in the last 20 years. In countries like Yemen and Syria, children are trapped by the horrors of war. They need to be protected and given the chance to just be children again. Despite the collective efforts of the international community, brutal tactics are still commonly used against children: children are used as suicide bombers, their schools are directly targeted, and the widespread use of indiscriminate ...

As the war progressed, many children scabbled to have enough to eat, becoming active participants in the Southern Bread Riots that broke out in most of the major southern cities by 1863. Suffering from a lack of provisions, food and money, children formed looting bands to obtain goods for their families, as evidenced by the ultimatum scratched into a young Richmond girl's journal: "We are starving.
